About the Practice

Buma | Algera Notariaat is a notarial practice that has the right people occupy the right positions. Together with their staff, Bert Buma and Sjoerd Algera as the firm's founders boast many years of experience of the notarial practice in the course of which they have established an excellent position and sterling reputation for themselves within the Amsterdam market for notarial services, with a particular focus on the property market in its many guises.

About Us

Service Range

Top-notch notarial services provided in a personal and distinctly client-oriented manner: this is exactly what you may expect from Buma | Algera Notariaat. Bert Buma and Sjoerd Algera and their colleagues are used to operating both quickly and efficiently and at a competitive price level, without compromising the quality of their services in any way. It has always been their firm intention to develop a rock-solid practice by operating in a reliable and transparent manner, thinking ahead for you and providing you with pertinent information when appropriate. Although the lawyers and paralegals associated with Buma | Algera Notariaat primarily share a background of specialist expertise of the highly diverse property market, it goes without saying that the practice is equally well-versed in the areas of family law and corporate law.

Expert Partner

A dynamic society calls for a dynamic notarial practice. The lawyers associated with Buma | Algera Notariaat skilfully respond to market trends by striking the right balance between one-on-one attention and first-rate notarial services. Bringing together the personal and the professional is precisely what Buma | Algera Notariaat is all about.
